Title: Regarding devastation caused by floods and erosion in Rohmorla in Assam.

SHRI RAMESHWAR TELI (DIBRUGARH): I would like to draw the attention of the government towards a flood ravaged area called Rohmorla situated about 20 kilometers east of Dibrugarh district in Assam. Rohmorla is an example of how Brahmaputra river has wreaked havoc over the years bringing untold sufferings to the people. The river has intruded into the village by more than 10 kilometers in the last three decades. More than 28 out of Rohmorla's 38 villages covering an area of about 30,000 bighas of land have disappeared into the river, rendering at least 2,500 people homeless, many schools, one police station and two tea estates and one government sericulture farm have also disappeared. The flood and resultant erosion has threatened the very existence of vital installations like Mohanbari airport, three defence establishments, apart from dibrugarh town. The erosion has posed serious threat to five tea estates of Balijan, Nagaghuli, Mothola, Greenwood, and Maijan. I, therefore, request the Central Government to take immediate steps to protect Rohmorla and other places of my constituency from the fury of flood and erosion.
